

SCHOOL CHILDREN
GIVEN VACATION
SAFETY PLEDGE

Local school children received a lesson in vacation safety as the closing message of the monthly series of traffic safety studies placed in classrooms by the Public Safety Department of the California State Automobile Association. The last lesson of the Spring term was in the form of a resolution, prepared and distributed by the motorists' organization to 12,000 classrooms.

The pre-vacation traffic safety lesson for "every boy" and "every girl" reads:

Resolved: That we will remember during Summer Vacation the safety lessons we have learned in school, realizing that "To Be Happy—We must Be Careful." In our communities we intend to—Play safely on public playgrounds and sidewalks, or in our own yards; cross streets at corners only, looking both ways before stepping beyond the curb; use our roller skates in safe places, taking them off before crossing busy streets; stay close to the right side of the road when riding a bicycle and give proper arm signals.

On vacation trips we will—Be careful in automobiles, never taking unnecessary chances of injuring ourselves or others; walk facing traffic when traveling on highways; never beg rides from motorists; try to get others to follow our safe examples.

In the mountains we will—Use the main trails to avoid the dangers of getting lost or falling over the edge; never leave our campfire until we have buried or thrown water on the embers; give first aid immediately to cuts or scratches; carefully avoid touching unknown plants, because they might be poisonous.

At waterfronts we will—Swim in safe places, avoid the danger of getting too far from the shore, and try to influence others to do likewise; find out the depth of water in strange locations before diving; study life-saving methods and try to learn how artificial respiration is applied; remain seated when riding in canoes or other small boats.

DE MOLAY ANNUAL BIKE
RACE WILL BE HELD SUNDAY

Crocker Chapter, Order of De Molay, will hold its second annual bike race on Sunday, June 22, 1930. The course from the county line on Mission street to Pacific City on the Bayshore Highway is exactly fifteen miles, and the record time for the course is forty-three minutes, set up by Howard Lang, of Commandery Chapter, last year. With several fast riders from various chapters in the city the record should be broken tomorrow when the boys have completed the long grind. The race, which was started last year to increase interest among the boys in the order, was a great success in the previous trial, and under the aid of Ralph Riches and Al Brauns should be a better event this time. The trophies, a silver loving cup, a gold medal and a silver medal, will be awarded next Thursday evening at the Chapter's Sports Night. The race will start promptly at 9:45 A. M. at Archer's Garage at the county line.

JEFFERSON GRADS.
EXPRESS THANKS

By NELLIE VAN HEUSDEN

Members of the Board, Mr. Ferguson our parents and friends:

As president of the Senior class of 1930, I wish to extend a most cordial welcome to every one of you. It gives us great pleasure to have you here this evening to witness our Commencement Exercises, which mark the end of our high school career.

We also wish to thank the members of the Board for making Jefferson a school of which we are all justly proud, a school in which we have obtained something which we can never forget, and which no one can ever take from us.

Our deepest appreciation goes to Mr. Ferguson, our principal, and to the members of the faculty, whose pattern and guidance have helped us to construct a firm foundation on which to build the future, and who have helped to bring our four years to a successful termination.

The time we have spent in high school has meant a great deal to us, but we hardly realized how much until our time to leave drew near, and now it is with the deepest regrets that we must leave.

Once again I wish to welcome you and express our gratitude to our parents, for it is their love and sacrifice that have made these four years possible.

REMINISCENCES

Thinking it over from the beginning of the year to the end, there is no other conclusion to arrive at, but the elementary schools of this end of the county have a great many achievements to their credit.

The general contentment on the part of the pupils, parents and teachers is perhaps the fundamental reason for being inclined to rejoice. This has been brought about by having a lot of faithful workers who continually forget personality in order to accomplish something worthwhile for the benefit of the entire community.

The district is peculiarly fortunate in having upon its staff an unusually large number of teachers who are decidedly efficient in all respects. Such inspire respect among not only their pupils but also in the minds of all those with whom they come in contact. One never hears that kind of a teacher complaining about conditions that she is doomed to put up with. Serenely she endeavors in every possible way to improve without complaining or condemning and her efforts are seldom unavailing. Constantly, that kind of work goes on in this school district and those teachers who do it are really angels in disguise.

As a result there is much cause to rejoice over continual success, evidenced in industrious boys and girls, general obedience and friendly respect, and a total absence of conceit and vanity.

Let no one imagine for a moment that this good reputation is attained without considerable devotedness to purpose. The teachers do forget themselves entirely in order to meet and solve the daily problems in an advantageous way. Each worthy one knows that for her there is no variation from the ever reminding admonition, "Eternal vigilance is the price of success," with boys and girls and men and women.

This eternal vigilance must be practiced in order to check the natural inclination to boisterousness, bulldozing, profanity, defiance of authority, lying, dishonesty, and neglect of duty. Forget eternal vigilance even for a little while and pandemonium prevails.

If there is anything for which a community should be thankful it is some seat of power which commands respect in a friendly manner and a good teacher is exactly that.

The desire for public appreciation is in every mind, young or old; also the hope of greater compensation. No one should be censured for harboring kindred thoughts. They are so becoming, but they must never be the principal ones. To do the task before one in as nearly a perfect way as the circumstances permit no matter how much energy must be employed is the overpowering incentive of the really successful teacher. Thus one makes herself fully deserving. Otherwise it is a case of obtaining under false pretences.

The graduation ceremonies, attended so numerous by enthusiastic, appreciative people, gave additional ambition to the good teachers to go on striving to do even better work in the future. After all, as has been said by ex-President Calvin Coolidge, "Education is the most important work of our country."

MARRIAGE TRAGEDY AVERTED

When James McIntosh and Elizabeth Scott called on Rev. John R. Stevenson of the Presbyterian church to be married they expected that a short, pleasant ceremony would soon unite them in the happy bond of affection. But it wasn't as simple as that! Mrs. Frank Alward and Mr. Basil Kelley were drafted as the required witnesses and the ceremony was performed in the usual happy way until the pastor discovered that the license was a San Francisco license and therefore of no use in San Mateo county. What was to be done? The pastor did not hesitate, but hastily going to the phone called up the home of Mr. George Archer, of 1068 Huron street, San Francisco (which home is just over the county line), and asked permission to use his home for the space of two minutes. The party then adjourned to the Archer home and all ended happily. The bride and groom left for parts unknown, but will probably travel to Toronto, where Mr. McIntosh is a criminal lawyer by profession.

GOOD HEALTH WILL INCREASE WEALTH

We are so busy living these days that we often forget one of the most important phases of life—Good Health. For without good health there is but little joy to be gotten out of life. Too many of us in trying to acquire wealth in a greater or lesser degree, forget that health is wealth. What is the wealth of Midas to one who is only half alive? What can be bought as valuable as the buoyancy of health?

Wealth may be transitory—it may vanish through mismanagement or unforeseen circumstances, but with good health fortunes can be rebuilt. The loss of health is much more serious. Therefore it behooves us, while we are striving to add dollars to our savings to see that our habits and surroundings are conducive to good health.

Health is both individual and public concern. Turn to the Community Development Campaign in this week's issue, and you will find that preventable diseases cost this nation nine billion dollars a year in lost earning capacity. This shows the direct bearing that health has on the nation's wealth.

If every individual will make a consistent effort to maintain good health, the standard of health in this community will be vastly increased. If every person in Daly City will improve his health, he will thereby add to the wealth of Daly City. While we have made commendable progress in matters of Public Health, we have in reality but started, when our progress is compared with other communities renowned for the efficiency and thoroughness with which their public health problems are handled. Perhaps our progress has been hampered by the fact that many of our citizens are not fully aware of the importance of Public Health.

Benjamin Disraeli, one of the brainiest of all British Prime Ministers, has said: "The Public Health is the foundation upon which rests the happiness of our people and the welfare of the nation." So too health is the foundation upon which rest the happiness and welfare of OUR TOWN.

VACATION SCHOOL AT GRACE CHURCH

The children report all kinds of good times at the Presbyterian church, where a vacation church school is in full swing. With a whole load of wood donated the boys are making toys and the things which boys think of. The sound of the saw and the hammer fill the air. The girls are sewing and painting. Felt flowers and oilcloth handbags for every girl who comes to make one. But that isn't all. The first hour is spent in a worship program. The Bible stories are told and then dramatized by the boys and girls.

The school begins at 9 and special surprises are offered to those who come on time.

Church service is held at 7:45 on Sunday evening and the pastor is planning a special topic for this evening. The boys' chorus still continues with their songs to hold the favor of the congregation. Where is the church? At 1006 Hanover street.

Charged with Stealing Baggage

John Lodestead, Redwood City, was arrested Monday, on a charge of petty theft in connection with the stealing of luggage from a Southern Pacific train.

According to Redwood City police who arrested Lodestead, he boarded a train at Palo Alto and took luggage belonging to Mrs. Susie Pulford, Milwaukee, and then left the train at Redwood City.

MERCHANTS NINE
LOSE FAST GAME

The Merry Bachelors defeated the Daly City Merchants, 5 to 3, Sunday on the High School diamond. The contest was the fastest played on the local grounds this year.

Another slow ball pitcher showed his effectiveness against the local nine, Morse, Bachelors' chucker, kept the Merchants well in hand at all times, allowing seven hits, three bases on balls and striking out nine batters.

Out of the twelve hits Fabin allowed nine were bunched to drive in the visitors' runs. The Daly City slabman was in trouble in three innings, the third, sixth and ninth. Five batters clouted the first ball for safeties.

Rettig and Toole were the only batters that looked good against the brand of pitching the Merchants faced Sunday. George garnered a triple and two singles in five times at bat. Al obtained a triple and double in four trips to the plate.

Besides having a good day at bat, Rettig turned in a pair of sensational fielding plays. In the second inning George took Ahrens' overthrow in back of second base to assist in putting out Whitaker, who had stole the keystone sack. He also pulled down a hard hit fly ball in the fifth frame that looked like a sure double. "Mo" Plansky eclipsed Rettig's good plays by catching a line drive that cut off a run and resulted in a double play. The catch was staged in the fourth stanza with none out. "Mo" ran about fifty yards and leaped for the ball to make the put-out.

Manager Ed. Cavagnaro moved George from eighth batter in the lineup to leadoff man three weeks ago and he has been tearing the cover off the ball ever since.

Four players are tied for fourth place with an average of .286. The players' averages are:

ODDS AND ENDS
OF WEEK'S NEWSPOLICE HUNT DRIVER OF CAR IN ACCIDENT

Police were looking for the driver of an automobile who left the scene of an accident at St. Inez avenue and Delaware street in which John Lausardi, 308 South Fremont street, was pinned under his automobile.

The driver of a car which collided with Lausardi's machine assisted in helping him from the wreckage and then drove away, police were told when they arrived at the scene of the crash. Lausardi was not badly hurt. The license number of the missing machine was reported by witnesses.

SUN BLINDS WOMAN
DRIVER OF AUTOMOBILE

The sunshine of the Peninsula's "sunshine suburbs" was too strong for Mrs. Bonnie Reich, Los Angeles, she admitted to police when her auto crashed the rear of one driven by O. Merendoni, Watsonville. Both cars were damaged. Mrs. Reich said the light was so strong in San Mateo she had been unable to see the Merendoni car, which was just ahead of her machine when it stopped at Twelfth avenue and El Camino Real.

TRAFFIC PATROLMAN
FILES DAMAGE SUIT

State Highway Patrolman Louis Rinkle, Burlingame, filed suit in Redwood City for $25,000 damages against Erlando Garlin as the result of an accident on Bayshore highway last May 18, shortly after Rinkle had been appointed to the patrol staff.

Rinkle charges that he was struck and seriously injured by the defendant's car, which he charges, was carelessly driven.

BADLY BURNED IN EXPLOSION

Bobbie Del Lecrez, of Willets street, employed by the Pickwick stage people at Fifth and Mission streets, was very badly burned Thursday of last week while at work. There was a short circuit which caused an explosion of a steam apparatus. The young man was rushed to the Southern Pacific hospital where it was found upon examination that he was suffering from third degree burns.

WOMAN IS INJURED
ALIGHTING FROM BUS

Mrs. W. Dinning 301 Eucalyptus avenue, South San Francisco, is recovering from injuries received when she slipped and fell as she was alighting from a peninsula bus at the corner of Bayshore highway and Grand avenue, South San Francisco. She is in South San Francisco hospital under the care of Dr. E. I. Bartlett.

CITY EMPLOYEE INJURED

Harry Boerner employed by the San Mateo city street department and brother of Assistant Fire Chief Richard Boerner was critically injured at Santa Clara, and two other San Mateo men were severely cut and bruised when their automobile overturned.

The men were on their way to attend a baseball game in San Jose when the accident occurred.

ENTERTAINS LADIES OF THE
L. D. S. RELIEF SOCIETY

Mrs. Chas. Ohran, of Burlingame, was a very charming hostess last Tuesday when she entertained the ladies of the L. D. S. Relief Society of this district at her home. The regular monthly work and business meeting was called to order at 1:45. After the business and work for the summer was attended to and discussed Mrs. Kroman and Mrs. Koepf rendered a duet. Mrs. Fich rendered a reading and Mrs. Lindsay and Mrs. Pearson another duet, which was enjoyed by all. A delicious lunch was then served by the hostess to the following ladies: Mesdames Evelyn Merrill, Golda Ohran, Edna Hill, Sarah Standly, Jennie Fotheringham, Martha Jendrass, Maud Pearson, Harriet Hill, Leslie Hansen, Mary Kroman, Thelma Ehlers, Ellen Logna, Elizabeth Koepf, Ray Fich, Henriette Anderson, Rosina Rovegna, Ruth Bentley, Millissa Merrill, Susie Merrill, Evelyn Ohran, Fredrikka Duffner, Pauline Peterson, Lila Barstow, Rea Ashby, Beatrice Simister, Mae Kinkad, Agnes Felsch, Bertha Ohran and the Misses Aileen Neilson, Clara Fotland and Vera Koepf.

The next meeting will be held in George Washington Masonic Hall, San Juan and San Jose avenue, Tuesday at 1:45 P. M. when the ladies will hear Mrs. Williams lecture on "Social Service."

REDISTRICTING TO
NEW SUPERVISOR

Victory for Burlingame in the long fight to redistrict San Mateo county became an actuality Monday when the county board of supervisors adopted the compromise ordinance presented two weeks ago, giving this city a supervisor. While not as complete as it might have been, or as it was originally planned, the compromise was accepted today so that Burlingame might have early representation on the county board.

The redistricting compromise ordinance will become effective February 1, 1931.

In order to get this across without further delay Burlingame was compelled to accept Dr. C. V. Thompson, Pescadero, present chairman of the board, as its supervisor until 1935.

This was the only trade proponents and opponents of redistricting on the county board could agree upon to bring a quick end to the long standing battle.

The motion for adoption was made by Supervisor Thomas L. Hickey and seconded by Supervisor John Poole.

The compromise was adopted unanimously by Supervisors Thompson, Rosalie M. Brown, Poole, Manuel Francis and Hickey.

For a time it looked as though there would be no compromise but the supervisors and attorneys in the redistricting litigation met in executive sessions with District Attorney Franklin Swart. After more than an hour they returned to the board room and the ordinance was submitted and passed.

The opinion of District Attorney Swart on the compromise which was insisted upon last week by Supervisor Hickey and which was to have been offered at the meeting Monday was sidetracked.

Under the new plan Hickey continues in the first township, the boundaries of which will be moved up to the southern extremity of Lomita Park; Supervisor Brown remains in the second, the northern boundary of which was moved south to the northern boundary of San Mateo; Supervisor Poole retains the third with no change in boundaries; Supervisor Francis remains in the fourth, which, under the compromise, will include the entire coastside.

The old fifth district will become the new fifth and will include all of Burlingame and the unincorporated area north of Burlingame as far as Lomita Park, taking in Millbrae.

In view of the fact that the compromise will not become effective until February 1 of next year Supervisor Thompson will file his papers and seek re-election from his present district on the coastside. It is expected that he will have no opposition, consequently his present constituents will re-elect him, but he will serve them only one month of his new term, becoming Burlingame's supervisor in the new fifth on February 1, Thompson's old district, which will become a part of the fourth district under the compromise.

Burlingame's representatives were forced to accept this compromise as the only solution for a quick end of the redistricting fight. It had been hoped that the compromise could have been adopted immediately, but this seemed impossible in view of the strong opposition on the county board.

Though Burlingame would have been assured the supervisor with the handing down in a few days of Judge J. R. Welsh's judgment in the redistricting litigation, foes of the original ordinance as approved by the court had planned to appeal, which would have meant a delay of years perhaps in the supreme court.

It seems that there was no other plan under which the city could hope to get representation soon so, rather than wait for long years more, it accepted Thompson as its supervisor.

CROCKER CHAPTER
O. E. S. ENTERTAINS

Last Monday evening Crocker Chapter had one of its outstanding nights of the year, the occasion being Past Matrons and Past Patrons' night. As usual the hall was filled with a record attendance. These past officers assisted in conferring the degrees of the order, which was rendered in a splendid manner, after which all went to the banquet room, where the tables were laden with beautiful decorations and plenty of good things to eat.

The Worthy Matron, Louise Aitchison, was presented with some beautiful silver.

Mr. Romeo Canine, editor of the Daly City Record, accompanied by Mrs. Canine, last Friday afternoon went on an auto trip to Salt Lake City where he will spend his vacation for a few days.

Mr. Virgil Casanova, of Bellevue avenue, left Friday of last week for Russian River, where he intends to spend two weeks.

CAMPAIGN EXPENSES

One of the perplexing political problems of the day is that of campaign expenditures. How much should a candidate for office be permitted to spend in behalf of his candidacy?

Some of the amounts expended by recent candidates for the Senate seem unreasonably large, and in some cases investigations of campaign funds have resulted in the barring of successful candidates. If such investigations are to be continued, and they doubtless will be, it seems that there should be a law definitely fixing the maximum amount that may be spent, as is done in some states with respect to state offices.

With our ever-growing number of voters it takes a lot of money to reach each voter in the larger states with even one piece of campaign literature. In New York state there were 4,885,363 registered voters in 1928. If a single piece of literature were sent to each of these, and the cost of each piece, including postage, printing and addressing, were only five cents, it would take nearly a quarter of a million dollars to do the job. This sum would leave little margin for the expense of compiling lists, travel for speechmaking, newspaper advertising or other expenditures inseparable from an aggressive campaign.

In Illinois and Pennsylvania the number of voters is approximately one-third less than that in New York, so that it would take at least $200,000 to reach each voter with one piece of campaign literature and leave a small amount for other expenses in either of these great states.

These figures would only cover primary expenses, while in all three states mentioned there would be additional outlays necessary incident to the general election.

All of which illustrates how futile it is, generally speaking, for a poor man without rich supporters to aspire to high office.

ROADS MAKE FARM PROFITS

Profitable farming is dependent upon good highway transportation. The better the roads the more profitable the farming. This is the conclusion reached by a survey recently conducted by the Agricultural Experiment Station of Cornell University.

More and better farm-to-market roads enable American farmers to transport their products quickly and cheaply.

In the state of New York it was disclosed that farmers living on paved roads drove their trucks 725 miles more a year, average, than those living on dirt roads. Further, while but one-half of farmers on dirt roads own trucks, two-thirds of the farmers served by paved roads have them.

Several states are now conducting campaigns to provide rural districts with all weather roads. Thousands of miles of expensive main highways have been built connecting them with rural districts.

Such feeder roads would be of value to town and city merchants who would gain business that is now kept away by impassable roads. They would attract tourists by opening up new territory and relieve main highways of congestion. Such roads must be built if agriculture is to keep up with the march of progress.

The R. E. Ennis home is nearing completion on Irvington street.

DON'T PUNISH THE INNOCENT.—PENALIZE THE GUILTY

There seems to be confusion in the minds of many persons regarding the difference between licensing and prohibiting the ownership of small arms.

There is little or no opposition to laws requiring licenses for the possession of revolvers or pistols so long as such permits are available to respectable citizens without subjecting them to a maze of red tape or criminal classifications. It is doubtful if such laws, however, keep arms away from any criminals.

It has been found that restrictive laws work only to the advantage of the underworld, for guns can be obtained in any number of ways by the criminal element and if necessary can be easily manufactured.

Some time ago it was suggested that a law be passed by which a criminal caught with a gun in his possession, whether he used it or not, be automatically given a more severe sentence than an unarmed criminal. This is a sound suggestion for curbing gun-toting by criminals. It would not interfere with the rights of law-abiding citizens, but would make criminals think twice before carrying on their "business" with the aid of fire arms.

WOULD CURB BUREAUS

Alive to the ever-increasing centralization of governmental power in Washington Congressman Louis Ludlow of Indiana has introduced a bill calling for a commission to study and report on this usurpation of the rights of the states.

It is his view that this centralization of power in departments, bureaus and independent establishments at the national capital is contrary to the spirit of the founders of the Republic, and tends to place too much authority in the hands of Federal officials.

This has resulted in the harassment of the public by an army of expensive bureaucrats, such as the Federal Trade Commission, who try to prescribe rules and regulations for every conceivable phase of business and individual conduct.

Citizens are inspected, investigated and bedevilled generally, whether they have violated any law or not, upon the mere suspicion of some office holding parasite that possibly something is wrong with them. The net result is more bills for the taxpayers, in addition to the annoyance caused by the pernicious activities of a horde of spies and snoopers. At the same time, really serious crimes against society go largely unpunished.

The situation is becoming well nigh intolerable, and if Mr. Ludlow can do anything to curb these evils he will deserve the gratitude of a long-suffering public. However, as all these bureaucratic activities are the direct result of legislation by Congress, it may be too much to hope that anything can be done to check them.

It appears to be the business of Congress to continually create new government jobs—never to do away with one.

THE DUNCAN SISTERS COMING TO GEARY THEATRE

The world famous Duncan Sisters are coming to the Geary Theatre for one week commencing June 22.

An entirely new and original program will be given by the girls, something that will be just one round of laughs and roars from beginning to end. One of the numbers that was presented at the Breakfast Club in Los Angeles before Ex-President Coolidge and a gathering of many notables, causing the President to use his handkerchief to dry away the tears of laughter, will be presented to the audience at the Geary. When Mr. Coolidge is made to really laugh that way why there must be real humor in the number.

A take-off of the Opera Rigoletto, will be rendered as only the Duncan sisters can do it. They "Duncanize" Opera as it were. Dressed in costumes that are in keeping with the idea.

Going back many years when flappers were non-existent there was a type known as the Floradora Girl. She was the kind of girl that men asked if there were any more at home like her, but were informed that there were only a few. The Duncan Sisters always being different, chose to bring this type of girl back and now a Duo of the Floradora Sextet will be the vehicle offered as a diversity on the lengthy program. Rosetta Duncan takes the part of the man and Vivian the part of the girl.

No two entertainers in the world could dare to undertake a lengthy program of such variety and hope to please the entire audience, except these inimitable Duncan Sisters.

The engagement in San Francisco will be from the 22nd of June to the 28th inclusive at the Geary Theatre. Seats are now on sale at the box office now and those who wish to procure seats should make reservations at once.

The following applications for marriage licenses were filed in San Francisco Monday, May 16: Richard Walton, 21, Daly City; Roberta Colthorp, 18, 3613 Army street. Edmund Hansen, 23, 462 Templeton avenue; Bertha Bergman, 20, 1441 Fulton street. Vivian Duncan, Jr., 22, and Wilma Neuner, 18, both of 126 Acton street.

P. G. AND E. TEAMS SCORE HEAVILY IN FIRST AID TESTS

Three first prizes and a second in four statewide contests! That's the record established by P. G. and E. first aid teams in San Francisco the other night.

A team from the Sacramento gas department defeated experts from sixteen other California industries in the eighth annual California Industrial First Aid Competition, and followed that up with winning first prize for gas and electric utility teams. Then, to round out the evening, they took first place in the Pacific Coast Gas Association's contest.

The triple winners were directed by William Bahr and include: N. E. Smith, captain; W. C. Smith, J. J. Wogan, Oscar Skog, R. O. Fancher, and D. Martelle.

While the men were setting their record, a team of fair young workers from the company's San Francisco offices won second place in the women's contest being barely nosed out by representatives of the San Joaquin Light and Power Company.

SIDELIGHTS

Remains of an interrupted dinner party of some 1,600 years ago were found by German explorers in Ecuador. While natives of that far-off day were seated at their meal, a clay bank above gave way, burying diners, pottery and feast of mastodon meat. From the bones and other objects found, scientists have gained much information concerning early conditions in Ecuador.

Most towns complain because the census shows them to have fewer inhabitants than they claim. An interesting exception is Fairbury, Ill., which wants its figure of 2,532 cut down. The reason is that towns under 2,500 population in Illinois are exempt from certain road taxes.

Another friendship akin to that of Damon and Pythias recently came to light in Seattle. Al Lindbergh and Axel Quist were pals. In an evil moment Quist stole Lindbergh's turkeys and was fined $25 in court. Under the urge of friendship Lindbergh lent Quist money to pay the fine.

Boston Transcript tells of a small boy who won a book as a school prize for natural history. Explaining his victory to his mother he said: "Teacher asked how many legs an ostrich had, and I said three. All the others said four, so I was nearest right."

Tom Adams a negro of Tallassee, Ala., broke all state fishing records without even intending to go fishing. Strolling along the banks of the Tallapoosa river which was very low, he discovered a 417-pound sturgeon stranded in the mud in midstream. Neighbors aided in landing the monster and fish steaks were enjoyed by all.

Forward looking morticians might well have considered a want ad recently published in the San Antonio Light, which read: "Wanted—Undertaker in oil boom town, Pettus. Business will be good in 10 days; get in now. Pettus Townsite Co."

Just to be different, Mayor Briggs of Attleboro, Mass., sent a telegram of congratulation to the Daily Sun of that city on the installation of its new press, although his office is only a couple of blocks away. To be decidedly different he sent the telegram around the world, via Tokyo, and it was returned to Attleboro and delivered in 11 minutes after it was dispatched.

Those who deplore the cruelty of cock-fighting will see poetic justice in an incident reported from Iloilo, P. I. While a fatally wounded gamecock was struggling wildly in the pit, he gaffed a handler, Juan Martinez, in the jugular vein with a steel spur, killing him.

New York custom officers were puzzled a few days ago when a shipment of six boa constrictors from South Africa, consigned to Henry Bartels, checked out to the number of 53. The surplus had been born during the voyage.

Gustave Lindenthal, famed engineer who designed several of the largest bridges and tunnels around New York City, took time out a few evenings ago to attend a surprise dinner given by an engineering society in honor of his 80th birthday. Next day he resumed work on plans for another bridge he is designing to span the Hudson river.

A WOMAN CRIME DOCTOR

The new crime prevention bureau created in New York City's police department about four months ago has attracted wide attention, through its efforts to curb crime by eliminating its causes, especially among juvenile delinquents. For 50 per cent of the city's delinquents are under 21, and 60 per cent of those convicted of robbery last year were under 21.

Miss Virginia Murray, who has studied juvenile conditions for two decades, is director of the women's division, and she has already made great progress in cleaning up cheap dance halls and cheap movies where vice flourishes. Her views are expressed thus:

"Crime thrives on bad contacts and bad environment—that much we know. How often we have seen living examples where temperament of father and mother reflect themselves in the offspring?

"Alcoholic beverages, tea and coffee retard the proper development of youth. Habitual use of alcohol dehydrates body tissues and destroys body cells. Coffee, a temporary stimulant, is simply an added irritation to persons with already nervous and highly emotional temperaments, and it would be well to eliminate it entirely from the diet of adolescent boys and girls. Even among adults, if taken at all, it would be better to use it in decaffeinated form.

"Growing boys and girls must have proper nourishment, proper environment and proper outlets for recreation. Supplying these will go far toward eliminating the tendency to crime."

Other cities might well emulate New York in her worthwhile efforts to recruit the forces of youth into an army of proper thinking and proper living men and women.

FISH AND GAME NOTES

By J. H. NEUSTADT

The writer has just returned from a fishing trip to Ensenada, Mexico, and had quite an experience.

While on our thickly populated coast there are a hundred fishermen to every fish, the reverse is true in Ensenada, as there are at that place a hundred fish for every fisherman.

Fishermen are prone to exaggeration, but down there it is not necessary, as the size of the catch is only governed by the kind and size of tackle used.

Eight or ten miles off shore the troll began and in a few minutes the heavy surf rod bent, the line broke and the lure was left in the Pacific Ocean.

The boatmen came to the rescue with an outfit heavy enough for sashcord and in another few minutes the rod bent again and a contest was on with a fifteen pound baracuda.

The water splashed, the muscles of the angler's arms contracted and the fight was on.

Deep diving, six foot jumps, a dash from one side of the boat to the other, and these gymnastics continuing until fifteen or twenty minutes elapse and the brave fighter is brought to gaff.

The catch with hook if it is inserted is then thrown into a hinged box, the lid closed on the head and held tight, while the hook is extracted and the fish left to occupy the box while another cast is made.

This precaution is necessary, as baracuda have upper and lower teeth worthy of a shark and Mexicans' hands minus fingers are mute evidence that fish can bite.

Seventeen of these fighters represented the catch and the sport was varied with bonita, until a dozen were in the launch, and several others of Mexican variety, the names too complex to remember.

With special tackle, special reels and flying fish for bait, landing apparatus or tow ropes and monsters tipping the scales at several hundred pounds are not uncommon.

Bonejigs were the lure used with a large single hook. The lures used on this coast were attractive also, but of insufficient strength, as each one tried broke away at the first strike.

The distance is 80 miles south of Tia Juana, over rough roads and mountains, and overrun with cactus, poor food and high prices.

The excitement over, the desire to recross the boundary was uppermost, as the territory covered by the stars and stripes struck a responsive chord in comparison with the waste territory, populated sparsely by descendants of Spanish and Yaqui Indians.

Fishermen who use minnows as bait for trout should be careful to conform to the state law which prohibits the use of such bait except in those cases where the minnows have been taken from waters where the fishing operations are carried on, according to the statement of E. L. Macaulay, chief of patrol of the Division of Fish and Game of the Department of Natural Resources.

The statutes are quite plain on this point, Macaulay declared. "According to Sec. 632 of the Fish and Game Laws, 'It shall be unlawful for any person to use goldfish as bait for the purpose of taking, catching or killing trout or whitefish, and no persons shall use minnows for such purpose unless such minnows are native to or have been introduced into the waters so being fished.'"

It is of the utmost importance that this regulation be strictly enforced, according to Captain Macaulay, because of the great danger of undesirable species of fish being introduced into trout waters.

Carelessness in the handling of live minnows, the accidental upsetting of a minnow pail or the thoughtless releasing of surplus minnows after the completion of the fishing trip might result in the introduction of some species the presence of which might be most detrimental to trout.

Game wardens have been instructed to check carefully on the activities of anglers in this regard, in an effort to preserve for the anglers of the state those areas where the trout fishing has been maintained at its present high standard through the efforts of the Division of Fish and Game.

The advantage of the machine age is being made apparent to even the wild life of California according to the Division of Fish and Game of the Department of Natural Resources.

Deer in the high Sierras are ringing bells to attract rescuers when they fall into the flumes of the hydro-electric companies.

During the semi-annual migrations of the deer, first in the spring when they follow the melting snow into their summer grazing areas and again when they seek the protection of the lower elevations, many animals fall into the flumes of the various electric companies operating in that area.

In El Dorado county the Pacific Gas and Electric Company have stationed men along their flumes to rescue any deer that may get into difficulties with the fast water.

In order to make the work of rescue doubly safe, the power company has installed a system of electric bells along the flume. Any deer falling into the water comes into contact with the bell system, and the nearest flume tender is called to the spot. In this way the animal is saved and any chance of a deer drowning by not being discovered by the flume tender is averted.

Other protective measures have been taken to prevent any injury to deer from this source and this bell system is only depended upon to attract the attention of attendants should the other efforts fail.

SERVICES AT CALVARY BAPTIST

The following will be the sermons next Sunday at Calvary Baptist Chapel, 5724 Mission street: In the morning, "The Loneliness of Christ"; in the evening, "Christ before Pilate—Pilate before Christ."

In the Mahabharata there is a story that contains an element of deep suggestiveness. There was once a maiden who was to choose her lover from a gathering of heroes. She knew that in the assembly there was to be found the one whom she truly loved. But when the time came for the choice, she was perplexed and greatly distressed. There were five beings just like him. Four of the gods loved her, and, in the hope of influencing her choice, impersonated her lover. Then she prayed them, with great fervency and power of persuasion that they would resume their divine form. They did so. They stood before her shining and glorious. Their feet did not touch the earth. Their garlands were as fresh as if newly gathered. Not a stain of dust was on their garments. Then the maiden, to their surprise, turned to her dust-stained lover. He was more to her than the immaculate gods. In like manner Christ's dust-stained feet trod our streets today as He did the streets of old Capernaum. Still He is as lonely and as a whole rejected by man today as He was when He was on this earth in the flesh nineteen hundred and thirty years ago. The Master walks our streets every day and thousands cry: "I have not seen Him." The real Jesus can only be found and His reality experienced through the specifications of the Scriptures: "No man can say that Jesus is Lord save by the Holy Spirit." As the ether waves make it possible for man to receive the programs over his radio from the broadcasting stations, in like manner through the Holy Spirit is man able to tune his heart and soul with the Triune God. Try it! Then you will surely know that "He is God."

The Chapel is adding a new item to its programs beginning next Sunday morning. At 9:45 promptly a one reel motion picture will be shown titled "Our Pets." This picture is particularly of interest to the kiddies. It is all about the lioness and cubs; tiger; fox coyote; Egyptian hieroglyphs showing man adopted cat as pet years ago. Cats. Dogs. Air-dales. Police dogs and the use of dogs as the St. Bernard dogs of the Alps.

At the seven o'clock hour the combined B. Y. P. U.'s of the Chapel are showing the motion picture, "The Benefactor," the life of Thomas Edison. We will learn of Mr. Edison at five years of age at his birthplace in Milan Ohio. Interesting episodes of his life. At fourteen in his cellar laboratory a telegraph operator experimenting with electricity, inventing instruments, etc. Formation of the first firm of electrical engineers. Edison works out the greatest inventions of his career, the incandescent lamp the dynamo, and the multiple system. Problems with which he was confronted his untiring efforts, and finally his triumph over obstacles and what his achievements mean to humanity today.

The general public will want to see these reels. Calvary Baptist Chapel will be happy to have as many present as can come.

WHEN HARD LIQUOR RATTLES

Cabbages that rattled like tin cans attracted the attention of Officer Sylvester Douglas as they passed through Redwood City last week.

His curiosity excited by the voluble vegetables, Douglas searched the vehicle and then arrested the driver, John Barsetti, on charges of reckless driving and illegal possession of liquor.

Fifty-five five gallon cans of alcohol, which had been concealed from sight but not from hearing, beneath the cabbages, were confiscated. Barsetti was released on $500 bond.

THE FOOD INDUSTRY

One fourth of all the money spent by the American people is for food products, according to a study made by the General Foods Corporation.

The annual income of the United States is around 80 billion dollars, and of this 21 billion is used to supply the dining table, in addition to three billion more for products "Consumed on premises" and not cleared through any market.

The significance of this is shown by the fact that the value of all textiles in this country is about 12 billion yearly; automobiles, including trucks, tires and accessories, five to six billion; building construction, seven to eight billion; and iron and steel about six billion.

The food industry is thus the largest, as well as the oldest, of all businesses.

The trend in the food industry seems to be away from small producing and distributing units toward mass production and distribution in line with automobiles, electricity, clothes, banking, etc. One famous company provides the American table with more than 40 favorite food products.

Another animal death recently noted was that of Faithful, the world's highest priced shorthorn bull, 20 years old, at Buenos Aires. Faithful won the Argentine grand championship in 1925, and was sold for $64,539.

Facts About the Telephone

In 1918, there were but 100,000 Bell System dial telephones in service in the United States. This number had increased to over 4,000,000 at the beginning of 1930.

So as to provide continuous voice communication for pilots with ground headquarters, the Boeing System has placed in operation fourteen radiophone stations on a San Francisco-Chicago airmail and passenger airway.

The Prince of Wales is said to be a habitual user of the telephone. His voice is unusually clear and resonant, and it is declared that he speaks with great conversational ease on the telephone.

An average of 1,380,000 telephone calls a day are made over the Bell lines in the State of Connecticut. This is an increase of approximately $5,000 calls per day over the daily total of one year ago.

The telephone system in Portland, Ore., had grown to 97,700 instruments at the beginning of the present year, and, no doubt, the hundred thousand mark will be passed before the year is ended.

WORKING FOR THE FUTURE

The telephone industry must work constantly to meet present needs and prepare for demands of the future.

In 1929 the industry spent $633,000,000 for additions, improvements, replacements and new manufacturing facilities. This year the total will exceed $700,000,000.

These expenditures are directly reflected in broader and better telephone service. The time necessary for installing telephones has been cut nearly in half in five years. "Wrong numbers" which are the faults of operators are all but nonexistent. In a few minutes long distance connections can be made with a town 50 miles away or a country half across the world. Every dollar spent by the industry produces improved and extended service.

See Giant Map at Ferry Building Before leaving the Ferry building in San Francisco, sightseers are urged to examine the great relief map of California on the second floor. This map is 600 feet long, cost about $100,000 and shows the entire State in graphic detail on a scale of 6 inches to the mile.

It is illuminated with flood lights. In the Ferry building is also a most interesting mineral exhibit maintained by the California State Mining Bureau.

FLAG 153 YEARS OLD

Flag Day, on June 14, commemorated the anniversary of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes as the national emblem, by an act of Congress 153 years ago.

During the Revolutionary War a number of unofficial flags of various designs appeared among the regiments of the Continental Army. A flag adopted in 1775 had 13 alternate red and white stripes, representing the 13 colonies, but carried the British crosses of St. George and St. Andrew in a blue canton, to indicate that allegiance to the King had not been renounced. Even after the Declaration of Independence in 1776 this flag was displayed by forts and ships for several months.

But on June 14, 1777, Congress officially adopted a new flag, in the following resolution:

"Resolved that the flag of the 13 United States be 13 stripes, alternate red and white; that the Union be 13 stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation."

When Vermont and Kentucky were admitted to the Union two stripes were added to the flag, making 15. But it was seen that the addition of a stripe for each new state would spoil the symmetry of the flag, so in 1818 Congress provided that in future there should be only the original 13 stripes, but that a star should be added for each new state.

The pretty tradition that Betsy Ross made the first flag according to a design suggested by Washington has been popularly accepted, but historians doubt its authenticity.

Since its establishment in 1896, the observance of Flag Day has become widespread, and is the occasion for patriotic exercises, in which reverence for the flag and all it stands for is inculcated. The Order of Elks has adopted a most inspiring ritual for its Flag Day ceremonies.

A SWEETHEART'S EYES

From Cuba comes the inspiring story of Armando Biosca, who has just been graduated from the University of Havana with the degree of doctor of civil law, although he has been totally blind for five years as the result of an accident.

But it is not entirely to his own efforts that this happy result is due. At the time misfortune overtook him, his sweetheart, Sara Martinez, gave him encouragement and assurances of continued devotion. She offered to use her own eyes to aid him in his studies. During the intervening years she has faithfully read to him from law books and other necessary texts.

With pride she has finally seen him not only win his coveted degree, but take the highest honors of his class as well. Armando is now 24; Sara is 21. As soon as he gets settled in law practice they will be married. And, let us hope, "live happy ever after."

HOOVER AT GETTYSBURG

President Hoover's speech at Gettysburg battlefield on Memorial Day has been widely praised by newspapers of all political shades of opinion. One of the most striking portions of his address were the following:

"The things of the spirit alone persist. It is in that field that the nation makes its lasting progress. To cherish religious faith and the tolerance of all faiths; to reflect into every aspect of public life the spirit of charity, the practice of forbearance, and the restraint of passion while reason seeks the way; to lay aside all blind prejudice and follow knowledge together; to pursue diligently the common welfare and find within its boundaries our private benefit; to enlarge the borders of opportunity for all and find our own within them; to enhance the greatness of the nation and thereby find for ourselves an individual distinction; to face with courage and confident expectation the task set before us, these are the paths of true glory for this nation."

This is a noble plea for tolerance and restraint which might well be heeded in religion, politics, business and every relation in life. It is right and proper that one should have strong convictions and stand by them but the same right should be accorded to others, so long as they do not interfere with the lives and actions of those who disagree with them.

THE HORSE IN AMERICA

It is natural to think of Indians of the early days riding furiously on their horses and ponies, as they did during the long period of Indian Wars, in which the redskins battled with United States troopers in the West.

But the Indian got his first horses of modern times from the white man, according to J. W. Gidley, of the National Museum, who declares that at the time of the discovery of America the Western hemisphere was horseless. All the horses that exist today are descendants of those brought by Europeans.

Going back to the Pleistocene or Ice Age, however, fossils show that many horess roamed over both North and South America, these being almost of the modern type, similar in appearance to horses of the present. How they came to disappear has not been explained.

Going back still farther, remains are found of many varieties of primitive horses in America, some not larger than a shepherd dog, with three and even four toes. The earliest horses of all had five toes, the primitive number for all animals having a backbone, but no remains of five-toed horses have been found on this continent so far. The eyes of some of the early breeds were far down on the head, midway between the ears and the nose. The oldest horses were no larger than a fox.

The magnificent Percherons and other large breeds of today were they able to understand, would look upon their ancestors with as great contempt as certain humans feel for the theory that we are evolved from arboreal progenitors.

PAYING FOR CARELESSNESS

Fire is responsible for a direct money loss of about $500,000,000 a year. We all pay for this whether we individually have a fire or not.

Heavy losses have an adverse effect on fire insurance rates. When destroyed property is not rebuilt the taxes such property would have paid must be borne by others. These facts enter into the operation of every business and are items of importance in determining the cost of living. They affect, in one way or another, the price of every purchase whether it is a home or a loaf of bread.

When the operation of a major business is interrupted by fire the result is striking. Men are thrown out of work and families deprived of their living. Purchases of all kinds are curtailed. Business goes elsewhere to the detriment of the entire community. Savings in banks are drawn upon and amusement places are not patronized. Fires have caused exoduses from towns, leaving behind only poverty and ruin.

The effect of a great fire may be nation-wide. Following the San Francisco disaster fire insurance companies were called upon to immediately raise $200,000,000 to pay losses. In order to do this stocks and bonds had to be transformed into cash. And this it is said, was largely responsible for the panic of 1907.

There is but one solution to the fire problem—an active, informed safety consciousness on the part of individuals and businesses.

STATISTICS TO ORDER

If one depends on the conflicting statistics put out as argument in favor of this or that, it is difficult to get much information of a satisfactory nature. While it is said that "figures can not lie," experience has amply proved that statistics not only can, but often do.

A case in point is seen in a statement by a church board which claims that prohibition has increased the national wealth by 72 billion dollars, while the National Industrial Conference Board gives statistics which indicate that prohibition has caused a decrease of 175 billion dollars. One or both of these statements must be in error, perhaps both.

This recalls a story of the late publisher, E. W. Scripps, who decided to employ an expert to compile some statistics on matters of national importance, making an offer of $12,000 for the job. The expert wired Mr. Scripps: "Offer accepted. What do you want the statistics to show? Can deliver to suit."

Mrs. McCormick is reported to have sold a bull for $3,000. Most politicians make no charge for theirs.

ENGLISH IS QUEER

In a plea for greater consistency, a spelling reformer has called attention to a few of the many vagaries displayed in English spelling and pronunciation.

The sound of long "a," for example, is represented in many different ways, as a in lady, ai in rain, eign in reign, ay in pay, ei in veil, ey in they, eye in obeyed, ea in great, oa in goal, au in guage, ag in champagne, aig in campaign, aigh in straight, and ai in wait.

Other sounds are represented by an almost equal variety of spellings. Words pronounced alike have different meanings, such as right-rite-write-wright, to-two-too, oh-owe, and many others. Words spelled alike may mean entirely different things, such as row, bow, lead, saw, and so on.

These peculiarities have to do merely with orthography. When the other innumerable inconsistencies of the language are considered, the wonder is that anyone ever learns to speak and write English correctly.

As a matter of fact, hardly anyone ever does.

REAL FARM RELIEF

The automobile has revolutionized city and industrial life.

American agriculture cannot rise to the same plane of efficiency as American industry until it is able to utilize, to the fullest degree, modern tools and machinery, both in producing and distributing its products.

The economical use of automobiles and trucks is denied farmers while they are cut off from markets during many months of the year by impassable roads. Progressive states are now improving farm roads with a waterproof surface of oil or asphalt at a moderate cost.

In the United States there are nearly 2,500,000 miles of unimproved dirt roads and almost 5,000,000 farmers live on them. Farmers pay seven per cent of the highway tax, yet less than three per cent of them are reached by year-round roads, according to the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Agriculture is the most necessary of all industries. Poor roads that now make profitable farming impossible are a detriment to national progress.

All-weather farm-to-market roads must be an outstanding part of all future road plans.

The Sickles avenue crossing will be widened and the gates removed under a supplemental order issued jointly to the Southern Pacific Co. and the city and county of San Francisco, with a clause that all switching movements across the highway be preceded by a flagman.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store. Edwards' Drug Store, Mission street, near San Jose avenue. —Adv.

Health Is Wealth

There is wealth in health. Healthy towns are prosperous towns, and prosperous towns are healthy towns.

An army of trained men, working in every state in the Union, have quietly been gathering facts for years. They have conclusively proved that community health and wealth go hand in hand.

Would you like to know some of the facts these men brought to light?

They found that the conditions of the home and family living are the chief causes of health or sickness. Prosperous, sanitary, hygienic, happy homes are essential to healthfulness.

Sickness is the second main cause for charitable aid.

The average family spends about $100 a year for health. This covers doctor bills, hospitals, medicines and dental services.

Nine out of every ten persons are sick every year. This covers a range from slight accidents and indispositions to serious and prolonged cases. One week is the average period of sickness.

On the average, there is one doctor and one nurse for about every 750 people. There should be one hospital bed for every 160 people. Only about 5,000 people are necessary to support a hospital.

One dollar a person in the average community will support a good health department. Such a department should be in charge of a competent health officer.

Pure water, sewage and garbage removal must be provided. Sanitary inspection service of food and milk should be maintained. Control of preventable and communicable diseases is necessary. Sanitary schools with a health inspection service, health education, proper school heating, lighting and ventilation are essential.

Auxiliary health agencies such as the Red Cross, Anti-Tuberculosis Association, Visiting Nurse, Child and Infant Hygiene, Clinics (medical-dental), health publicity and educational work, general hospital facilities, and numerous others are all doing a necessary work and should be supported.

Periodical medical examinations disclose defects or conditions of importance. In one out of every four persons the length of life can be increased 25% and more by periodical examinations. Doctors have increased the average span of life about nine years. Your doctor and dentist would sooner help you keep well than try to cure you when you are sick.

Your druggist, your grocer, your butcher, your plumber, and, indeed, all your dealers are in their way educators in the art of healthful, sanitary and hygienic living.

By the use of their services and materials, you can be both healthier and more prosperous.

Proper living conditions are necessary to health. Health is necessary to prosperity. Health is wealth.

The illustration on this page shows an astounding yearly loss from sickness—from PREVENTABLE sickness. Let's talk it over with our neighbors and strive to prevent that part of the loss suffered by ourselves—by

INVESTIGATE BABY'S DEATH

San Mateo county authorities are investigating the death of a 6-months old baby in a Colma auto camp last Friday.

The parents of the baby, Mr. and Mrs. George Cunningham, arrived at the auto camp from Gilroy last Thursday night. They retired, leaving the baby in a suitcase crib. In the morning the baby was dead. Its face was blue and there was froth on its lips. The Cunninghams admitted they had insured the child's life.

Mrs. Washington's likeness will continue to grace the reply half of the double business post card, on the other half of which President Washington's picture appears.

RE-ELECT GEORGE A. KNEESE on PAST RECORD

To the Voters of San Mateo County:

Having served the people of San Mateo county as Surveyor and Engineer for twelve years, I respectfully submit my candidacy for re-election to that office.

In doing so I want first to express my gratitude to the electorate of this county for the opportunity I have been afforded to render service in its recent tremendous development.

As shown by the census report, in no part of California has more substantial improvement occurred, and it is evident to all that we are now on the eve of much greater and wider progress. It is a matter of great pride to me that my office has played its part in aiding and in some measure expediting this progress.

In rapidly growing communities problems relating to transportation facilities, highway needs, sewage disposal, street improvements, traffic regulation, etc., are frequently pressing and difficult and must be competently handled. Otherwise progress is definitely retarded.

To meet this situation, and to keep pace with present and prospective development, I have perfected a working force which I hold is second to none in California, in that its service has always been prompt, always watchful of the economical expenditure of public moneys, always insistent on the highest class of work being done and the best possible return to the taxpayer for the moneys expended. All progressive improvements cost money. The test is in giving the taxpayer and property owner value received for every dollar paid out.

It has been my good fortune to have been a resident of this county all my life, and I esteem the confidence and respect of its citizens in fullest measure. If, by your support, I am continued in office, I will diligently and faithfully put forth my best efforts and that of my office organization to keep San Mateo county in its high place of progress, and its economic interests carefully safeguarded.

Respectfully,
GEORGE A. KNEESE.
